

To whom it may concern,

March 28, 2011

Recently we had a practice analysis done by Zdravko Manov, from Schein Dental. The data was well organized and addressed several specific areas that we were interested in reviewing, which provided us with valuable information regarding our fee schedule, needed hygiene hours and missed revenues opportunities. I found the in-depth review of these findings to be very valuable. No other dental supplier has ever taken the time to provide and review the key details that were covered and are necessary for any successful practice. Dental supplies are a necessity for our business but this level of service was an added and valuable bonus. I highly advise any doctor that wants to see what their current reality is and advisement on beneficial improvements for their practice to have this amazing service done!
